Our Story

Lamont Land Inc. creates master-planned communities responsibly. It’s easy to say, but hard to do. Master planning means examining the land – literally and figuratively – and determining the best way to develop it. Master planning means looking at the bigger picture – not how to get more lots in a community, but how to orient those lots so that as many as possible have a view, or sunlight all day long, or back onto a green space. At Lamont Land, we think about creating spaces that residents can enjoy in different ways. We respect land and people – it’s that simple. That’s our business philosophy, and it’s reflected in everything we do.
